13th Seminar of the European Group of Risk and Insurance Economists

The 13th Seminar of the European Group of Risk and Insurance Economists was held at the University of Hamburg, from September 22nd to 24th, 1986. This was a particularly successful meeting, with about 40 par-ticipants, 50% of whom came for the first time and contributed very satisfactorily to the scientific level of the event.

Thirteen papers were presented, including the following topics: Implicit Contracts and Fixed Price Equilibria; Egoism and Altruism with Imperfect Information; Rational Insurance Purchasing in a Continuous-Time Model; Transaction Costs Theory of Insurance; Pareto-Optimal Risk Sharing with Fixed Costs per Claim; A Zero-Sum Differential Game Between two Insurance-Reinsurance Companies; The Impact of Loss Control on the Insurance Decision of a Risk Averter; Principles, Tariffing and Interfinancing in the Compulsory Regulations of Car Insurance; Banking as Insurance; Strategic Behaviour of Main French Insurance Groups; Liability and Compulsory Insurance under Belgian Law; The Accounting of German Insurance Companies.